PREVENTING SEXUAL ASSAULT

How can I play a role in preventing sexual assault?
The key to keeping your friends safe is learning how to intervene in a way that fits the situation and your comfort level. Having this knowledge on hand can give you the confidence to step in when something isn’t right. Stepping in can make all the difference, but it should never put your own safety at risk.

- Create a distraction
Do what you can to interrupt the situation. A distraction can give the person at risk a chance to get to a safe place.

- Ask directly
Talk directly to the person who might be in trouble.

- Refer to an authority
Sometimes the safest way to intervene is to refer to a neutral party with the authority to change the situation, like an RA or police officer.

- Enlist others
It can be intimidating to approach a situation alone. Enlist another person to support you.
Interpersonal Violence by the Numbers

Likely to: Speak up and express concern if I heard a stranger vs a friend talking about coercing someone to have sex.

- Very likely
- Definitely would

We are all responsible for recognizing, identifying, reporting, and preventing interpersonal violence, whether it occurs to us, a friend or loved one, or a stranger.

Whether a lack of knowledge or awareness of identifying interpersonal violence, or fear of making a false accusation, we need to be willing to report a concern.

Remember there are several resources available to report, and it is not your responsibility to investigate further.

Earth Day Activities

Earth Day is on April 22nd this year, and we wanted to give you some activity ideas that can help you make a positive impact on the environment.

- Start a garden. Tips on gardening without a yard can be found in the March edition!

- Cleanup litter. Take a garbage bag and walk through your community picking up any litter you find.

- Donate old clothes. Go through your closet and take anything that doesn’t fit or you don’t wear anymore to your local Goodwill.

- Change your lightbulbs. Switching to LED lighting can greatly increase energy efficiency.

- Start recycling. Research recycling centers around you or simply start composting!

WHAT ARE PERSONAL PRONOUNS AND WHY DO THEY MATTER?
Using someone’s correct personal pronouns is a way to respect them and create an inclusive environment, just as using a person’s name can be a way to respect them. It can be offensive or even harassing to make up a nickname for someone and call them that nickname against their will, and it can be offensive or harassing to guess at someone’s pronouns and refer to them using those pronouns if that is not how that person wants to be known. Or, worse, actively choosing to ignore the pronouns someone has stated that they go by could imply the oppressive notion that intersex, transgender, nonbinary, and gender nonconforming people do not or should not exist.
